HARDING YIELDS TO HOUSE LEADERS | MAY MEAN FOURTH | ON SUBSIDY DELAY

Only Gives Inch to Gain a Mile, However, in Better Ship Measure.

Liquor Selling Amendments Must Be Studied Further on International Aspects.

By David Lawrence. (Special Correspondent of The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON, June 19 (Copy right) .- President Harding's readiness to agree to a postponement of action the House of Representatives on the Ship Subsidy Bill is an affirmative step, induced by considerations of strategy, which he believes will insure the passage of the bill at this session

Details of the President's positio ecame known to-day after his return from a week-end cruise on the May Mr. Harding will communi cate his views to House leaders withi a day or two. In brief, Mr. Harding is not trying to dictate the exact day and hour when the Subsidy Bill should be passed, and is willing to defer to the judgment of House leaders on this point so long as he gets the legislation through before the present ses sion of Congress adjourns.

Having made the threat that he wi call Congress into extra session if an adjournment is taken without passing the Subsidy Bill. Mr. Harding found himself confronted with the alternative of forcing the measure through now, while the House is in a disappointed mood over having been comselled to stay here against its will, or vaiting till members have had a little vacation and got an opportunity to 'mend their political fences' back

The President could have forced action this week, but it would have been at the expense of an emasculated signs of generalship in catering to the wishes of the House leaders at this ime, so that when the members get back, in six or seven weeks, they will have no excuse for further delay.

The truth is that Mr. Harding was persuaded to yield to the plan of postonement, largely because of the argument made to him by members of the Rules Committee that they hadn't had sufficient time to study the sub-Mr. Harding learned, for instance, that the record of the hearing before the Merchant Marine Committee had not been assembled and bound so that the matter could be thoroughly digested. Several leaders said they thought members would feel better about it after they also had had a chance to canvass public sentiment

As matters stand now, Mr. Harding will lose nothing by keeping on friendly terms with the House membership. He will get a better bill passed six weeks from now than he could get this week. Even if the Subsidy Bill were to be passed by the House within the next few days, as Mr. Harding originally thought would be the case, the measure would have to lie over for another month or two Soviet Russia. He has been making until the Senate finished work on the a fight for recognition of the Lenin-gentlemen's agreement between the viet Government in the direction of leaders of the Democratic and Re-recognition by the United States. publican Parties, to the effect that no party matters will come up for consideration while the members take a vacation. Then when the Tariff Bill is ready the House will be called back and the measure sent to conference in a few days.

While the Tariff Bill is in conference the House will act on the Ship Sabsidy Bill and the Senate will take up the bonus, if it has not been given; way over the tariff by that time. The Senate may, of course, be discussing the subsidy measure while the House is doing the same thing, but the President is of the pinion that Congress ought to, and will, place a ship subsidy law on the books before the autumn elections. instead of imagining in the bill unpopular move, many of the I wai. dent's supporters believe will add to Republican prestire ... the polls, as it will be presented as the outstanding achievement of a constructive charac-ter of the first two years of the Harding Administration.

Other advantages in waiting till later in the summer for action on the Ship Subsidy Bill, lie in getting of more dispassionate view later on the question of selling liquor on board American ships than is possible at the present time. It is expected that facts and figures will be marshalled first to prove that American ships will be at u serious disadvantage if the sale of liquor is prohibited on board American vessels, while those under foreign flags are unmolested, and second, that treaties will prevent the application of American law to foreign vessels, or contemplated in pending bills which seek to prevent all ships entering American ports from selling intoxicants on journeys to and from the United States.

The President has yielded an inch to gain a mile. He is more confident today than he ever has been of the ultimate passage by both Houses of his favorite measure creating a permanent American merchant marine ou of the war fleet.

MAINE PRIMARY BLOW TO HARDING

Defeat of Hale in To-morrow's Contest Would Be Counted a Disaster.

COMES UP IN AUGUST HIS FRIENDS ANXIOUS. Administration Also Uneasy About Maryland and North Dakota.

> (Special to The Evening World.)
> WASHINGTON, June 19.—Interes among politicians in Washington centree on the outcome of the Maine primary to-morrow where Senator Hale, another member of the Administration group in the upper branch of Congress, is appealing for re-elec There is considerable pervousness in Administration circles ove the outcome, as a defeat for Hair would be regarded as "four straight" for the elements in the party which are giving President Harding lukewarm support. Former Representative Frank E Sucrosey is the most dangerous contender against Hale, although Howard Davies of Portland is shelling the woods with some effect and appeal ing to the more radical elements.

Washington is especially interested in the Maine result, as "Fred" Hale is one of the President's "Golfing Cabinet." Hale and Frelinghuysen Hale and Frelinghuysen vers boon companions of Mr. Har ding while he was in the Senate, and their intimacy has continued during the Presidential term of the Ohioan.

The more conservative prognostica tors are not counting heavily on a upset in Maine, which is notoriously conservative, but there are those who say that progressivism is making it self felt there and that the voters are in a mood to get away from the old order of things. Official Washington is centering its attention on the Maine result, looking for a ray of hope in the dark gloom that has overspread the regular Republicans since the sweeping victory of Co Brookhart, anti-Administration Republican, in the Iowa primary.

Hale's friends say he will "come back," and predict a handsome majority for him. If he is renominated hen Maine will furnish another test of popular feeling toward the Harding Administration in September when the general election is held in advance of the rest of the country If Hale pulls through, Administration supporters will redouble their efforts o save Senator "Joe" Frelinghuysen in New Jersey, whose chances to suc-ceed himself have caused much gloom among his friends in Washington during recent weeks.

Coming closer to home, the Mary land contest for the Senate is engaging the attention of Washington. President Harding's recent visit to Baitimore, where he attended the Key nemorial services, has served to turn the spotlight on the political mixup in that State. To the surprise if not the horror of many regular Republicant the President accepted the hospitality occasion, being entertained in the latter's home. France has not been per Trotzky Government ever since the Germans laid down arms in 1918. He Under the new plan, to which Mr. made one trip to that unhappy Harding has agreed, the House will two years ago to obtain material to recess three days at a time under a further advance the cause of the So

One Liner Safe Just Outside 12-Mile Limit Carries 12,000 Cases.

Prohibition Chief Appleby of New York and New Jersey has detailed the Hahn of the Prohibition navy to patrol the Port of New York beyond the twelve-mile customs limit and observe the actions of incoming steamships which he suspects are anchoring outside that limit and unloading quantities of imported liquors on bootlegging yachts and barges.

According to Mr. Appleby, a dry agent engaged a tug and went out to see yesterday and boarded an incoming foreign liner outside of the customs limit and observed 10,000 cases of liquor on one of the decks. The agent had no trouble being admitted to the liner, Mr. Appleby said, because he posed as a prespective purchaser of the liner, Mr. Appleby said, because he posed as a prospective purchaser of the contraband cargo. The liquor which the agent observed, Mr. Appleby stated, would sell at bootleg prices for upward

Mr. Appleby explained that as the laws stand the liners he alleges are unloading the liquor outside the customs limit cannot be held for violating any law when they dock. He said all the risks in the transaction are taken by the yachts and barges which re ceive the liquer and smuggle it into the country by way of the Long Island and New Jersey coasts.

SCORES OF POSSES FAIL TO RUN DOWN ESCAPED CONVIC

Slayer Greer, Who Fled Sing Sing, Changed From Prison Garb.

More than a score of posses, including State troopers, Sing Sing guards and police of towns on every side of Ossining, have failed thus far in their combined efforts to track down Charles Greer, alias John Kelly, who escaped from the prison last night. At 1 o'clock this afternoon the searching parties had reported 1.0 definite progress.

Greer, who had twelve more years to serve on a twenty-year sentence for the killing of Thomas Keene in Ferry, had a record of five arrests in New York and had served in the reformatory at Elmira

It is believed that he is in civilian clothes, for his prison garments were found to-day in the garret of the cell that a small hole had been cut in the cell block roof. And that was where he left his prison suit and cap.

Unless Greer managed to get out o the district with exceptional speed, i is believed that he will be quickly caught, for all roads were placed under observation immediately after the alarm. Every automobile and boat was inspected.

the prison sounded the alarm the workers on the great estates of Frank A. Vanderlip, the Rockefellers, James Speyer and others laid all other duties aside and searched the premises for the convict. The New York police are watching the home of Greer sister in Amsterdam Avenue. Greer is not believed to be armed except possibly with the tools he used to break the skylight; he did not leave them on the premises. When the prisoners were marched in to the evening meal last night he was present, but when they were mustered at 8.30 to march to the chapel to see a moving picture he was

An immediate investigation show-ed that Greer had gone to the top of the six-tier cell block, smashed the lock of the trap door leading to 1.2 garret, battered a hole through the tile roof with whatever he had used to break the lock and reached the roof near the eaves.

He entered the cupola of the Warden's home, went down four flights of stairs and out the front door to freedom. He attracted no attention because trusties come and go about the Warden's home.

Greer lived in New York at No. 1487 Amsterdam Avenue. He was last arrested in Greenwich, Conn., and from his finger prints it was learned that he was wanted for murder.
